

Revisiting the Titanic in Film and On Stamps

Federated States of Micronesia sheetlet, Sc. 969, issued April 4, 2012

The re-release of the epic Titanic film for a week in early December has sparked renewed interest in the tragic event. This also takes us back to the theme of the Titanic as it has been told on stamps.

On the occasion of the 100th Anniversary of the sinking of what was believed to be an indestructible vessel, we carried in Mekeel's & STAMPS April 27, 2012 edition extensive coverage of the postal and philatelic history. Rather than repeating that material now, we instead refer you to that extensive, 2012 multi-article feature at http://www.stampnewsnow.com/PDF/Pages/SNN_Titanic.pdf on our Stamp News Now website, and in this December 22, 1917 edition we can add a sampling of additional Titanic issues that were not included in our 2012 coverage.

For them, we turned to the website of the Inter-Governmental Philatelic Corp., www.igpc.com. One of the leading philatelic agents, representing many nations, IGPC often focuses on popular topical issues. We present a sampling, and refer you to www.igpc.com to view many additional Titanic issues.
